

Yes, they took my two grandsons from their parents, and a week later their mother lost their third son who was stillborn due to the trauma of having her children seized. Then while the two boys were in foster care the little one walked into a corn field and despite a huge search effort was not found till the next day in a corn field, surviving temperatures that dipped down to 17 degrees that night. I believe it was front page news about 3 days.

The father was charged with harassment for using a belt to spank the oldest boy in discipline. Both parents went through all the Parenting classes (not court ordered but voluntarily) and Marriage counseling and the boys were returned two days before Thanksgiving. Only to be seized again in March, this time the investigation ruled the case unfounded. And goes before the Judge on June 2nd. Just last week I was told that Kay Englebret has decided that instead of returning the boys home that they were going to put them up for adoption. This is truly an outrage.

How it all started...

Two years ago the parents were having discipline problems with their oldest boy and turned to "FIX" Family Intervention for help. They voluntarily went to their meetings in order to resolve their problem. When the topic of discussion turned to the Bible, they said the Bible was just a good book. The parents spoke out stating it was more than just a good book. The next day Kay Englebret and another CYS agent came to their home like German Gestapos and seized the children.

After finally getting the children back in November, the parents were having an argument, and the mother did exactly as she was instructed to do in the Parenting classes...call FIX. Well, FIX came to diffuse the argument, they seized the two boys again, one of the boys had a small bump on the head and neither parent knew how it happened. The case was ruled unfounded. The mother has bi-polar disorder and CYS is continually trying to use that against her as being a fit mother. And now they are using the father's "past abuse history" against them.

There is so much more to this story, The Entire Blair County Court System is very much corrupt. They kidnap children and place them in Foster Homes, Charge the Parents Fines and Child Support all the while getting State funding for Foster Care, Adopt the Children and Get More Money for That. I see this as legalized Human Trafficking.
