

Thanks Bob. I looked into the SPAM bounces and I can't seem to find the original cause of the problem. I see your original email going to one of our customers who must subscribe to that Yahoo list but I don't see anything which should cause the SPAM like bounces.

My only real advise is give the bounces a couple of days to settle down and then attempt to re-subscribe and see if you get the same response from our server.

On a side note, I currently live in Pittsburgh and I have seen your story before in the press. I support you as I have had friends have similar but not so extreme run-ins with CYS and the courts out in Montgomery County, PA.

Good luck and let me know if you get a similar response in the future,
Scott
